The Soul's Conviction of Immortality

I never saw a man that did not believe in the immortality of love when following the body of a loved one to the grave. I have seen men under other circumstances that did not believe in it; but I never saw a man that when [illegible] that he really loved stretched out for burial, did not revolt from saying: "It has all come to this; the house of sweet companionship, the wondrous interlacing of two souls, the joys, the hopes, the trusts, the unutterable yearnings; there they all lie." No man can stand and look into a coffin upon the body of a fellow-creature, and remember the flashing intelligence, the blossoming love, the whole range of the divine faculties which so lately animated that old clay, and say, "These have all collapsed and gone." No person can witness the last sad ceremonies which are performed over the remains of a human being—the sealing down of an unopened lid, the following of the rumbling procession to the burial, the letting down of the dust, the falling of the dust upon the hollow coffin, with those sounds that are worse than thunder, and the placing of the green sod over the grave—no person, unless he be a beast, can witness these things, and then turn away and say, "I have buried my wife; I have buried my child; I have buried my sister, my brother, my love."

God forbid that we should bury anything. There is no earth that can touch my companion. There is no earth that can touch my child. I would fight my little breath and strength away before I would permit any clod to touch him. The jewel is not in the ground. The jewel has dropped out of the casket, and I have buried the casket, not the jewel. And you may reason, you may say what you please, you may carry the case before the supreme court of my understanding, but there is something higher than reason, and something back of the understanding. All that is in me revolts at the decision, and spurns it, and says, You must try heart cases before the heart. We will not believe but that there is life somewhere else; we will not believe that life is buried here; and the soul goes out and cries like a child lost in the woods, to find itself in this strange world, saying, "Where am I, and who shall guide me, that long and yearn and reach upward?"

How to Extract Silver from Lead.—To extract silver from lead is very simple; it admits of but one principle, which depends upon the different properties of the two metals. It is a property of lead, which melted in the open air, to lose its metalic appearance, and to burn away into an oxyd of an earthy appearance; on the other hand, it is an essential property of silver not to burn or lose its metalic appearance, when exposed to the action of the strongest fire in the open air. If a mass of metal, consisting of lead and silver is melted thus, the lead will burn to ashes, or into hard masses of a scaly texture, which mass is known as litharge, while the silver will sink to the bottom of the vessel in which the mass is melted. In practice where the operation is conducted on a large scale, the silver is extracted from the lead by the oxydation of the lead into a reverbatory furnace of a particular construction. A shallow vessel called a cupel, is filled with ashes, well packed and pounded down, and a cavity cut out for the reception of the nozzle of a bellows, through which air is forcibly driven. When the fire is lighted and the lead in a state of fusion from the reverberation of the flame, the blast of the bellows is made to play forcibly on the surface, and in a short time a crust of oxyd of lead, or litharge, is formed and driven off to the side of the cupel opposite to the mouth of the bellows where a shallow aperture is made for it to pass over; another crust of litharge is formed and driven off, and this is repeated until nearly all the lead has been scorified and blown aside. The complete separation of the lead is indicated by the appearance of a brilliant lustre on the convex surface of the melted mass in the cupel, which is occasioned by the removal of the last crust of litharge which covered the silver. The silver thus extracted is not sufficiently pure; it is further refined in a reverberatory furnace, being placed in a cupel lined with bone ashes and exposed to an intense heat, so that the lead which escaped oxydation by the first process is converted into litharge, and is absorbed by the ashes of the cupel.—American Artisan.

Clear Water.

The Indianapolis Locomotive gives the following extract from an address delivered in that city by John B. Gough:

"See that glass of clear, cold water. It was brewed by Our Father for his [illegible] sigh. No widow's tears have ever dropped into that. There is not one drop of blood to stain its crystal clearness. In its dregs there is no delirium, disease or death. No mortal dying ever cursed that glass. Ah! give it to the thirsty traveler, and he will return the goblet laden with gold. Ah! give it to the parched sufferer, and his blessing will bring joys from heaven to your soul, for beneath its sparkling surface there lies concealed no fell destroyer to seize upon its fascinated victim. Oh, no! for it was not brewed among the fœted airs of distillers and breweries, but it has been brewed in beautiful places upon the mountain top and in the valley. God brewed it for the children that they might drink of it as freely as heaven has given the blessing. A never failing source of pleasure, without one moment's pain. It was brewed down in yonder mossy dell, where the red deer lingers, and the brook sings its wild lullaby; or away upon the mountain top, where the sun's bright beams bestud the air with dewy diamonds; or, afar off upon the ocean, where the storms and hurricanes are born. It glistens in the rainbow! It trickles down the mountain! It floats in the silent showflake! It murmurs in the running brook! It rattles in the hail storm! It howls in the tempest! It roars in the thunder! It dashes through the forest! It dances from the cataract! It foams at the fountain! Oh! take a drink of it!—drink freely—dash to the earth, the accursed thing that man has made to take the place of the clear, cold water.

Belladona the Antidote of Opium.—The Norfolk Virginian states that an interesting case, illustrating the antidotal powers of the belladona, in poisoning by opium, occurred in that city on Sunday night, in the person of a young married woman, about twenty-two years of age, who had swallowed the greater part of an ounce of laudanum, with suicidal intent. The Virginian gives the following particulars of the case:

The time that had elapsed after taking the poison could not be ascertained, but it was sufficient to have passed beyond the first train of symptoms The dark suffusion of the countenance had given place to extreme palor, the hot, flushed skin had become cold and clammy, the labored breathing had become slower and interrupted, and the pulse very thread-like and indistinct. Under these circumstances, Dr. Jackson, the physician in attendance, feeling unwilling to wait for the slow action of an emetic, and doubtful whether one could have been administered in such extreme stupor, determined to test the power claimed for belladona as an antidote to opium, and accordingly administered, sub-cutaneously, its active principle, atrophine. Some effect was almost immediately perceptible—in five minutes the sensibility of the stomach began to return, and a distressing retching occurred—in ten minutes the pulse was found to be more distinct—in fifteen minutes the face found to be recovering its color, and soon became flushed In a few minutes more she opened her eyes, the pupils of which had been very much dilated, and looked anxiously around the room.

Consciousness must have somewhat returned by this time, for she now remembers that circumstance. An emetic was not until now administered, after the effects of which she sank into a natural sleep, from which she woke on Monday morning quite conscious, and only feeling "a little weak."

This is a valuable case, affording additional evidence of the claimed virtue of this remedial agent. As probably no poison is so frequently resorted to as opium, and as there is no article of the materia medica so frequently administered by mistake, a reliable antidote has always been a desideratum, and the accumulating evidence of the power of the agent used on this occasion (belladona), render it more than probable that one has at last been discovered.

Wages in England.

An interesting book has been recently published in England, giving some valuable statistics of the working classes of that country, and of their different employments. From the book we learn that there are 800,000 persons employed in England in the general [illegible] the country. Of this number all but 8,000 are men. About 19,000 are dock-yard laborers, 11,000 postmen, 37,000 policemen. Nearly all the others are soldiers or sailors, and the annual income of the whole class amounts to $50,000. In addition to these there are 1,700,000 domestic servants, nearly all of them women, whose yearly wages amount to $295,000,000, including the cost of their sustenance. There are 700,000 persons engaged in the conveyance of men, animals, goods and messages. Of these 200,000 are railway servants, 123,000 are coachmen, cabmen and carmen, 37,000 are bargemen and watermen, 180,000 are seamen, 35,000 are dock laborers, and 125,000 are warehousemen, messengers and porters. Their entire earnings in a year are estimated at $195,000,000. Of agricultural laborers there are said to be about 2,000,000 men and 700,000 women and children, earning in all $420,000,000 a year. These and all the others are not so numerous as the laborers in manufacturing and mining pursuits, numbering about 3,000,000 men and 2,600,000 women and children, and receiving $1,130,0000,000 a year in wages. The entire working classes, according to this book, comprise 11,000,000 persons, of whom nearly half are women and children, and receive each year $2,090,000,000 in payment for their work. The average of weekly receipts of boys and men under twenty, are $2.43; of girls and women under twenty, $2.64; of grown-up men, $6.47; and of grown-up women, $3,68 Skilled work people receive a great deal more than that, and common laborers less.

Effects of the Bankrupt Law.—The New York World of August 30th says:

The enactment of a bankrupt law has had a somewhat different effect upon the fortunes of merchants and traders who had failed than was expected. It was supposed that as there was known to be great numbers of people who could not go into business because of their unliquidated indebtedness, that as a consequence there would be a rush of bankrupts to take advantage of the new law. It has not so turned out—though, undoubtedly, when the fall terms of the Courts commence, we will see a much larger number of bankrupts put through the legal mill than was the case this summer. Instead of taking advantage of the law to free themselves from their obligations by being declared bankrupts, the delinquent and unfortunate traders are "settling" with their creditors. For one person who makes application to the Courts, there are twenty who privately come to an understanding with their creditors. This has been done to so great an extent throughout the country that thousands of old merchants will re-enter business this fall and winter. The law allows practically of three modes of settlement; the voluntary and involuntary bankruptcies of insolvent debtors, or a compromise without legal proceedings, and this is what is now going on all over the country. The effect cannot be but good. Hundreds of energetic men will again find their way into business, and thousands of families will be relieved from the burden of old debts. The law, so far, seems to have worked well.

The car festival of the Juggernaut has hardly been a success this year in the Poore district of Hindostan. The car is a ponderous erection, on ten pair of wheels, each one made of one enormous piece of wood. The painted block which does duty for Juggernaut is in a tower on the top, and the other turrets are filled with priests who clang cymbals, strike bells, beat drums, blow conchshells, and infuriate or amuse the people with obscene exhortations in a truly diabolical fashion And all this in the midst of a fair on the main road to Calcutta, at the entrance to the Christian village founded by Carey, Marshman and Ward, from which native evangelists go forth preaching to the crowds.

Choice of a Husband.—An Athenian, who was hesitating whether to give his daughter in marriage to a man of worth with a small fortune, or to a rich man, who had no other recommendation, went to consult Themistocles on the subject. "I would bestow my daughter," said Themistocles, "upon a man without money, rather than upon money without a man."

AN INSIDE VIEW!

A TRIP AMONG THE ADVERTISING PATRONS OF THE VEDETTE!

SALT LAKE CITY AND ITS BUSINESS MEN BY DAYLIGHT!

To-day we took the liberty of visiting the establishments of the enterprising, energetic business men of this city, and propose to relate to the public what we saw. We commenced first by visiting the of Wm. Maloney, a son of Vulcan who "forged the bolts of Jove," on Second South Street, between First and Second East Temple streets, and found William quietly seated viewing the situation, while he was having two span of horses shod by his assistants. He is prepared to do everything in the blacksmith line for all who give him a call.

BLACKSMITH SHOP

Next we brought up at the

on the corner east of the Revere House, where Mr. Ervin was busy waiting on some customers. We took in a view of the establishment and found a well assorted stock on hand, consisting of flour, bacon, beans, potatoes, oats, barley, and all manner of groceries and provisions, as well as an extensive assortment of canned fruit. He appears to be doing a pretty good business.

Next door above we dropped into the provision store of who keeps a neat establishment well stocked with provisions and groceries, and all kinds of fruit. We also saw a goodly number of young poultry for sale to those who have a weakness for chicken roasted, broiled, boiled or par-boiled.

Just above this store, and opposite the VEDETTE office, we found our way into the kept by G. D. Jenks, and which is one of the best hotels in the mountains. "Mine host" spares neither pains nor expense in making his guests comfortable and catering to their tastes. His rooms, of which there are 76 in the house, are always clean, airy and healthy, and his table lacks nothing that the market affords. The traveling public make it a point to stop at this popular hotel.

Dropping into the

FASHION RESTAURANT,

on Second South Street, kept by Chambers & Co., we could not but admire the neatness and taste displayed in the interior of that noted restaurant. All kinds of fruit were arrayed on the tables, clean musquito bars spread over them to preserve them from the ravages of flies, and the viands served up were of the order and appearance that should render that restaurant a popular place of resort for the public.

We now called at the

just a door above, and found Paul Englebrecht at his post, in his usual charitable mood, giving drink to the thirsty —and good drinks too. We were induced to sip a goblet of his nectar, specially prepared for the gods, and don't wonder that old Bacchus and others had a weakness for such exhilirating preparations. The saloon is clean and capacious and the walls ornamented with exquisitly engraved works of art.

Passing out we were attracted by the cries of a man who was elevated on some boxes above a multitude of people crying out, "just agoing for one dollar, one dollar, one dollar, dollar and a half! two dollars! sold! And crossing over to

SUMNER & CO.'S
AUCTION HOUSE,

we found them selling off everything in the establishment for just what people would give. There were dry goods, dress goods, all kinds of furniture, chains, axes, clocks, rope and a thousand other articles, both ornamental and useful, but too numerous to enumerate.

Then we passed on down in the corner, and stepping into the store of

found that gentleman at his post, with a good stock of all kinds of provisions, groceries and canned fruit, which he is ever prepared to sell to those needing such articles, cheap for cash. He has a good stand, facing the most public thoroughfare in the city, and will try to give satisfaction to all who may favor him with their patronage.

Filing to the left, we brought up at the

O. K. STORE,

J. M. WILSON & Co.,

which was filled with both goods and customers. Edging our way in, we saw the proprietors and clerks busy in buying and selling. Stacks of flour, bacon, tobacco, case goods and salt were in front, and the shelves behind the counter were loaded with a great variety of articles in the grocery and provision line; boots, shoes, gentlemen's clothing, blankets, wrapping paper, etc., etc In the rear of the store, were bins full of wheat, oats and barley, while the cellar was full of bacon, sugar, coffee, butter in firkins, and other articles of merchandise. They did not have time to do much talking to us, so we left them and their customers to drive reciprocal trades.

Turning our back to the morning sun and our face northward, we wended our way up street to where we found those two clever and gentlemanly druggists, John and Geo. Bauman, ministering to the wants of the public by prescription and otherwise. They have the finest assortment of drugs, medicines, paints, oils, varnishes, dye stuffs, perfumery, toilet and fancy articles to be found in any establishment west of the Missouri River—all of which they sell at reasonable prices. Mistakes in the compounding of medicines are not made at this establishment, and this they are ready to assure the public.

J. BAUMAN & Co's DRUG STORE,

Facing about we were vis-a-vis with that enterprising jeweler and watchmaker who has a splendid array of diamonds, jewels, precious stones, all kinds of jewelry, watches, chains, opera and field glasses in his show cases and windows. He has a great variety of the latest and best style of clocks, and a large quantity of silver ware; and is always ready to attend to the repairing of watches, clocks and jewelry.

I. WATTERS,

Leaving there we entered the

COMMERCE BUILDING,

KAHN BRO'S

magnificent store. It was filled to over-flowing with gentlemen's ready made clothing and furnishing goods, ladies' white goods—such as embroidered articles, laces, collars, etc.—hardware and cutlery, school and miscellaneous books, cloths, calicoes, sheetings, delaines, muslins and all kinds of ladies dress goods; boots and shoes in great variety and of every description and tobacco and cigars in abundance. The Col. kindly piloted us through the establishment, and we found the cellar filled with goods of every description in bales, boxes, casks, and trunks, that have not as yet been opened. This firm is well known to the public, and persons dealing with them will have no cause to regret it. Their store is the neatest in the Mountains, and they will spare no pains to keep up their reputation as enterprising, liberal, wholesale and retail merchants.

A short distance above, and just below the Salt Lake House, is the

MAMMOTH CLOTHING HALL,

SIEGEL BRO'S,

who have an immense stock of gent's clothing and furnishing goods of every variety, description and pattern. They make it a special business to keep their shelves supplied with the latest style of suits from the eastern market. Hats, caps, boots and shoes are there in great numbers, and can be purchased like all their other goods, at very reasonable figures. A very fine lot of blankets are also to be had there.

Going above one door, we walked into barber shop, and found those gentlemen at work manipulating the heads and faces of other gentlemen in an agreeable and artistic manner. In addition to attending to tousorial requirements, these gentlemen have quite a quantity of toilet and fancy articles, tobacco and cigars to dispose of to those who may feel themselves in want of such things.

Just above there a few doors is the wholesale establishment of the capacious, and spacious, and filled from one end to the other of their immense building, with all manner of ready made clothing, cloths, flannels, sheetings, blankets, calicoes, jeans, linseys, demings, ticking, stocks, case goods of every description, tobacco and cigars, a great variety of hardware, groceries ad infinitum and provisions without number.

We now entered the

kept by Sewell & Co's and found a number of smiling faces, "smiling" at the bar, in the best imaginable humor. Dennis was doing the "agreeable" on the occasion. It is a nice retreat.

A step out, and a flight of stairs landed us in law office. The Major appeared to be "in business," and was preparing a document to get somebody in trouble or out of it, as the case may be. He has the reputation of being a very clever Attorney and a faithful, reliable advocate, which he undoubtedly deserves. Not being disposed to "law it" we wended our way to soap depot, but found the doors closed. However, we observed a large number of boxes of soap from their manufactory piled up on the inside, with which they propose to supply the demand of this community at a reasonably low figure. We will have something to say further about this soap and the manufactory in few days.

CHARLES H. HEMPSTEAD'S

It was now about time to call on T. W. Childs at the

on First South, between Main and Temple streets, or to be more particular, nearly in the rear of the Market House. Childs is on the trade, but will sell for cash sooner than loose a customer, and sell cheap too. He has everything in the produce and provision line on hand; is well supplied with groceries; has glassware, clothing, furs and skins to dispose of, and a number of Shaw & Clark's sewing machines to be sold.

We beat a retreat to Main Street and dodged into store, where we saw a great variety of gents clothing, ladies dress goods and trimmings, dry goods upon dry goods, notions and fancy articles, flannel and sheeting, valises and trunks, ladies and children shoes, men and boys boots, hats, caps and gloves; provisions and groceries of all kinds. All of which he declared his willingness to part with for a cash equivalent.

Here we looked in upon

WM. HIGLEY,

Watchmaker and jeweler, and found him at work unbarring those who had watches to mend. He has a nice lot of silver ware, watches and jewelry for sale as well as a few clocks.

We next stepped into the store of

F. AUERBACH & BROS,

and they appeared quite busy with a squad of customers, whose wants they were endeavoring to supply. On both sides of their fine store, and in the centre, too, their magnificent stock of goods were displayed to excellent advantage, and the eye could readily rest upon the article desired. Gentlemen's clothing and furnishing goods, ladies goods of every description, fancy goods in great variety, notions and ribbons, boots and shoes, California blankets, California ground coffee, spices and mustard, tobacco and cigars were abundant. We particularly noticed, and we call the particular attention of the lady readers of the VEDETTE to the fact that this firm has a splendid lot of elegant ladies and misses furs for sale. Also a lot of buggy robes and hardware are on hand. In the back room and up stairs we found a huge assortment of wall paper, window blinds and shades, ladies shakers, bonnets, oil cloths of all kinds, and a general assortment of merchandize. We got tired looking at the immense stock of goods of this firm and went out into

BOHM & MOLITOR'S

Assay Office, where we found Mr. Molitor in a genial mood, and declaring his readiness to assay any rock or precious metals brought to him for that purpose, and make returns in six hours.

A few steps brought us to the store of

LESSER BRO'S,

They too, were quite busy in waiting on their numerous customers, and the latter looked satisfied. We observed that they had a fine assortment of gentlemen's clothing and furnishing goods, ladies dress goods, calicoes, muslins, sheetings, ladies and childrens shoes, men and boys boots, flannels, tickings, notions, blankets, groceries and a heap of other articles that we had not time to pencil down.

Passing a little lower down we came to the

PACIFIC HARDWARE STORE,

M. B. CALLAHAN,

and entered. It is the largest and best selected stock of hardware in Utah, was collected with an eye to this market and embraces in the description stoves of the latest and best pattern, carpenters and blacksmiths tools, tanners and tinners implements of every variety, building material, cutlery, grind stones, leather and findings, paints, oils and brushes, crockery, glass and tinware. A tin shop is attached to the store, where everything in the tinners line is manufactured and repaired.

We next visited the

CALIFORNIA STORE.

L. COHN & Co.,

and found the proprietors smiling and gracious, waiting on about a dozen of customers. This bode goods, and on looking around it was easily accounted for. They have a splendid stock of gentlemen's clothing and furnishing goods, ladies dress goods—including silks, french merinos, delaines, muslins, calicoes, etc.; also bed-spreads, blankets, ribbons, notions, cloth and silk coats, knit and woolen goods; ladies', men and boys' boots and shoes, etc., etc., etc.

We were confused and tired about now, and took a run up into the law office of

to see what they were doing. We found them complacent and ever ready to attend to the legal requirements of their patrons. They are good attorneys and will attend to any business that may be entrusted to them.

Greenbacks 70@71.

From Montana.

We get the following items of Montana news from the Helena Herald of the 28th and 29th ult.

EIGHT HORN.—The gulch bearing this name is a tributary of boulder, just below the canyon on that creek, and eight miles above where the Gallatin road crosses it. It is reported that good pay has been struck for a distance of five miles

FROM SALT LAKE.—Our streets are filled with fruit stands, and fruit wagons; all of them deriving their stocks in trade from Salt Lake. It is reported that there is no more apples on the way, but the wagons here intend returning for winter apples as soon as they sell out. Twelve wagon loads of flour only are reported on their way here.

SALMON. — We noticed upon our streets yesterday a large load of dried salmon, taken from Salmon river, at the mouth of the Lemhi and just opposite Salmon City. They did not appear to have suffered from their two hundred and fifty miles of travel, and were selling at from thirty to forty cents per pound at retail.

MISSOURI VALLEY.—This valley extends from Crow Creek on the south to Canyon Ferry on the north, being thirty miles in length and eight miles wide on an average. It contains between one and two hundred ranches, all of which are doing well. The crops in this valley have been peculiarly favored this season, the grasshoppers and frosts have done but very little damage. We hear of several ranches that have produced one thousand bushels of grain each.

NEW CHURCH.—The Episcopalians of this city have in contemplation the erection of a new church building, to be situated, probably, in the vicinity of the Public Square. The ground dimensions of the edifice are to be twenty-three by forty-eight feet, and the extreme hight of the building will be about thirty feet, the whole to be surmounted by a spire and cross eleven feet in hight. The general style of the building, the windows and the finish of the ceiling will be pure Gothic.

We have advices from Beartown up to Friday night, and they present a horrible state of affairs. Ryan was indicted for manslaughter on Tuesday morning last, and Judge McElroy, by the advice of the Prosecuting Attorney of Deer Lodge County, fixed the bail at ten thousand dollars. This sum was not forthcoming and Ryan was taken to Cottonwood in charge of the Sheriff and twenty-five armed men, on Tuesday afternoon. On Friday morning, at half-past seven o'clock Lovejoy died. The same afternoon his body was placed in a coffin, strapped upon a pack horse, and surrounded and followed by a funeral procession consisting of forty armed men, was started upon its way to Cottonwood for burial. When it is considered that it was solemnly sworn that if Lovejoy died, Ryan should be hung, and that Cottonwood is Ryan's place of confinement, this armed procession of mourners seems ominous, and we have but little doubt that Ryan has, before this, met with summary justice at the hands of a Vigilance Committee. However that may be, Beartown, without doubt the most horrible and desperate place in Montana, if not in America, is in arms. There is no longer any use of disguising the fact that the Americans and Irish are at war with each other, both armed to the teeth, and prepared to shed blood profusely upon the least provocation. People who have lived in our Territory since its organization, have never before seen such a terrible state of affairs in our towns. A collision is momentarily expected. The Americans probably have the majority, but the Irish are more on the fight. It is barely possible the excitement may subside—we hope so at least—but if not, then the drama of our Territory's early days must be re-enacted.

SAILED.—P. L. Shoaff and family sailed in the steamer Arizona from New York to San Francisco, October 1st, en route to Salt Lake. So say the telegraphic dispatches.

DRILL.—A great drill came off this afternoon down near the Jordan. If the majority of the troops are composed of such material as we saw flit by our office wet nurses would be a more fitting accompaniment than weapons of war.

IN TOWN.—This village is about as full of people as it generally gets. We think that everybody is arriving in the Territory. The State Road this noon looked something like an emigrant train, being filled as far as the eye could reach. Hope they'll have a pleasant time during conference.

STRUCK "ILE" AT LAST.—J. R. Sumner & Co. are now prepared and will furnish the people of Utah, at low rates for trade or cash, petroleum oil, lubricating oil, tanners oil and tar axle grease the best in Utah. Call and examine for yourselves. Everybody come and get some, and try it. 1w

COMPLIMENTS.—From every side we receive compliments for our evening issue and the neat appearance of our paper. We have striven to make it a reading paper, and hope we have surmounted the obstacles in our way for that accomplishment.

WHO DID IT.—That's what we want to know! Some individual who don't care cent about his reputation has absconded with, or surreptitiously purloined a coffee pot in the rear of our office. It is only to be hoped that the "feller" who stole it drank the contents. We'll bet if he did that he'll not appropriate another one, for it contained lye to wash "forms."

Albany, October 1.

The Democratic Convention met to-day and passed resolutions pledging the Democracy that they would reclaim New York from its corruption and misrule. The first step to be taken is the restoration of the Union; that the National debt is a sacred obligation; demand economy by the administration and equality of taxation; denounce the general course of the Republican party; call on the Federal Government to enforce its doctrine; that adopted citizens are entitled to protection; urge the repeal of the Excise law, and conclude with thanks to the soldiers and sailors.

☞ This is truly the "age of progress," and the American people are, beyond doubt, far ahead of all others. This is clearly demonstrated by the Sewing Machine—which is, strictly speaking, an American invention.

In this branch of manufacture, the EMPIRE SEWING MACHINE CO., office 616 Broadway, New York City, stands pre-eminent. Their "Improved Manufacturing Machine" has no rival. It is built on sound mechanical principles—is simple in construction—easily understood, and not liable to get out of order.

Its sewing qualities, particularly on cloth and leather, cannot be equalled; and as such we recommend it to our friends and the public generally.

SAN FRANCISCO.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbons' Dispensary,

616 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any other injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes; pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them, nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

TO THE LADIES.

The various complicated and distressing diseases incident to females, treated with eminent success. Such as Suppressions, Irregularities, Whites, Falling of the Womb, Tumors, all Urinary Diseases, Nervous Debility, Painful or Difficult Menstruation, Barrenness, etc., will be speedily cured, without poisonous drugs, injuries or unpalatable medicines of any kind. Have no delicacy in calling, no difference what your troubles may be. The afflicted are cordially invited to call and satisfy themselves.

Persons calling at Dr. Gibbon's office or sending for packages of medicines, may rely upon his assurances of confidential secrecy with implicit faith, and expect no more than to be charged with, a fair, and mutually satisfactory remuneration for services rendered, considering the circumstances and difficulties of cases, rather than a too prevalent and selfish practice of extortion among quacks and pretenders.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, by enclosing $15 in currency in a registered letter, through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded by express to any part of the Union.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 616 Kearney street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, Post Office Box 252.

Consultation FREE.

☞ Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the VEDETTE. 9-16-1y
